Since 1999 I have had a permanent ileostomy. Although in the 20 years I've had it, I have been fortunate enough not to get a parastomal hernia, but know others who have and how they suffer. I have had various problems with my stoma, including skin problems, ulcers and having to have it refashioned due to a hole forming. I am interested in helping find ways to reduce the impact and likelihood of getting a hernia. I am a 38 year old Crohn's patient. I am available most days and have daily access to my email. Thank you.
